Word of Caution to Hope on P.O. Stand

Hope Ed Note: The Star's editor learned of the conflict in Fayetteville a few days after opening his local attack January 3. Our information came not from the Fayetteville newspaper but from letter-writers in small towns close to Fayetteville, published today along with the Fayetteville editorial.

Making Certain Editorial in Northwest Arkansas (Fayetteville) Times January 15 (Post Office Pictures, Page 8)

The post office set-to in Hope holds interest for Fayetteville residents. The Board of Directors of the city manager government in Hope, the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations want a new post office which will occupy a new location. The publisher of the Hope Star actively opposes the construction project, saying he feels government economy has to start somewhere and this is a good place. He is responsible for circulation of petitions opposing the building project and more than 1,000 persons signed the petitions.

In Washington, moves continue for putting the Hope post office in a new and larger structure on a different site. It appears the publisher and the petition-signers were late with too little.

The reason the matter has special interest here is because not too long ago the post office in Fayetteville went into a new building at another location. Since the move a few blocks from the principal business section strong efforts have been made to open a sub-station in the old building on the Square. And the Post Office Department has promised to start such a sub post office early this year—in addition to operating the new building at St. Charles and Dickson.

One thing learned from the change made here—a new building does not necessarily meet the needs of the community. Recommended to the city of Hope, and the Post Office Department—be sure, doubly sure, before the move is decided upon irrevocably.

Letters to Editor

Editor The Star: I notice in the Sunday Arkansas Gazette where you are fighting the building of a new post office.

Just one example: Fayetteville just had to have a new post office. So they built one out several blocks from the business square. Now listen to them howl about having to go so far for their mail. So they have opened up part of the old post office on the square for business boxes.

All the towns around here have built new offices—Rogers, Springdale, Fayetteville, Farmington, Prairie Grove—and not one of them was actually needed. So you see, we are quite "conservative." Get the money spent in any town seems to be the motto.

I hope you are successful in your fight. We need to have a change in our economic setup—or we are sunk.

Editor The Star: My applause to you for your firm stand protesting the waste of federal tax money for a new post office.

You are possibly aware that a new post office was built in Fayetteville—several blocks away from the square, forcing a completely unnecessary travel for folks, as no provision was made to serve the public on the square. Also, the building on the square was perfectly sound.

This is surely a warning to citizens that the federal government is determined to spend all tax money—wisely or unwisely—by bureaucratic authority—not common sense.

I am delighted to see a newspaperman determined to battle for thrifty spending of tax money.

Right here in West Fork an abandoned grocery store was rebuilt with private funds and rented to the post office—giving

What Is Enough for the Rest of the World Can Never Be Enough for Us Americans

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Progress can dismay. One of the great things about Cheops is that no Egyptian Pharaoh built a higher monument to himself.

One of the most admirable things about the Eiffel Tower in France is that it is individual, distinguished and extraordinary. One of the beautiful things about the Taj Mahal is that neither India nor the rest of the world has a duplicate of it.

Well, what is enough for the rest of the world is never enough for us Americans. We must always outdo ourselves. So it was, after risking a hernia by single-handedly lifting Sunday newspapers into my domain and glancing at their front pages, I called out:

Well, well, guess what—we're going to build two buildings taller than the Empire State Building! And my daughter, Tracy Ann, who was in the kitchen teaching her mother how to cook a better piece of toast, remarked: "Daddy's always teasing me." I called her out and showed her the pictures in the paper. Our town is planning not one but two towers.

"Oh, daddy!" she said, and her face fell. Her majesty of height has been measured by the familiar and well-loved silhouette of the Empire State Building shouldering a morning mist or contrasting the symbol of a setting sun.

I felt the same way. The Empire State building, finished in 1931, cost $49,948,000 and was last sold for $65 million.

But the new World Trade Center here which will include the two towers of 110-stories is budgeted at $350 million. This double-dare to the sky leaves me—and my 10-year-old daughter—with a double dismay.

Both Tracy Ann and I feel a loss of accustomed height, like prairie children, who, used to the shadow of a known mountain, should awake and find two higher summits on the horizon to say hello to. Still, there are consolations. No one yet has built a second bridge named after Brooklyn or another Leaning Tower in Pisa.

Hope One of Four to Get Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of 151 new federal buildings costing $167,595,700 is proposed in President Johnson's budget sent to Congress today. Four are in Arkansas.

A $29 million building here for the housing and home finance agency heads the list as the most expensive project.

The four Arkansas projects are combined post offices and federal buildings. Johnson listed the cities and amounts as Hope $346,300, Marshall $197,900, McCrory $102,000 and Mountain Home $199,800.

Alford Tells of Club of Big Problem

HOPE, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Dale Alford of Little Rock, a former U.S. representative, told a Hope Jaycees Monday night that the gravest problem facing Americans is the stifling of democratic processes.

Alford attacked voter apathy and criticized what he called an increase in the power of the presidency.

He said under presidents from both parties Americans have seen "attempts to thwart the obvious views of the majority while appeasing the minority." "There is definite danger of the weakening of the Republic," he said, "by voter indifference, voter frustration over the lack of clarity on issues and, in many instances, the stifling quiet that is cast over all special interest groups faced with rule by political machine."

Alford told the civic group, "to be effective in pushing your political ideas or your candid dates who speak your political philosophy, you must stand up and speak out."

Paraguay, Brazil in Agreement

$17.6 Million for Millwood in the Budget

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that federal spending on the water projects programs of the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau be held at approximately last year's level, but Arkansas will get a significant increase.

His budget message to Congress recommended a total of $1,471,964,000 for the two agencies for the year starting July 1, compared with appropriations of $1,448,214,700 voted by Congress last year. This is an increase of about $23 million.

Under the plan, Arkansas will get $108,717,000, almost $21 million more than the $87,856,000 it received last year for water projects.

Would Limit Vehicles in Outer Space

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

A.P. Diplomatic Affairs Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today that Russia and the United States "explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics" of strategic nuclear vehicles.

Johnson laid a five-point program of possible agreement before the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference as it resumed sessions after a break of several months.

In a message to the conference he said that by laying the groundwork in earlier years for the limited nuclear test ban treaty it had already contributed more to a disarmament than any other conference in modern history.

"Today your search begins anew in a climate of hope," Johnson told the delegates, including envoys of Communist, Western and neutralist nations.

Johnson's proposal to impose a freeze on the number and types of nuclear weapons, "offensive and defensive," was the second of his five points. It was not spelled out in detail.

In ordinary terminology of disarmament experts a "verified freeze" would mean an agreed limitation on the size of nuclear forces and on the types of weapons, with the agreement to be guaranteed by inspection in the participating countries.

Hoffa Jury Gets Taste of Future

By GAVIN SCOTT

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Six men and two women had their first taste today of what life will be for jurors in the trial of James R. Hoffa on charges of jury tampering.

Despite protests from the president of the Teamsters Union and five other defendants, the eight prospective jurors were locked up overnight on orders of U. S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson, sixteen marshals were told to watch over them.

Only one of the eight, George H. Baber Jr. of Dayton, Tenn., had been questioned. Baber was seated tentatively at the close of the first day of what promises to be a long trial.

Judge Wilson implied he would not hesitate to hold Saturday sessions of court if the trial became too protracted. Baber's examination took two hours, an indication it may take several more days to seat a jury.

Hoffa and the others are charged with attempting to influence illegally the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville which ended with a deadlocked jury.

The other defendants are Alen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Larry Campbell, Teamsters Union business agent at Detroit; Campbell's uncle, Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville; and Ewing King, former Teamster official at Nashville.

Much of Monday's session in Judge Wilson's tiny, old-fashioned courtroom, was used up in repeated motions by defense attorneys asking postponements, separate trials and dismissal of the 300 persons summoned for jury duty.

Wilson turned down each such request.

$17.6 Million

Surveys: White River basin, Ark., and Mo., $300,000. Operation and maintenance: $4,138,000.

In addition to this work, two other survey projects involve Arkansas but are listed with other states' figures. A $300,000 survey of the Red River below Denison Dam in Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma is charged to Louisiana's total. And a $79,000 survey of the Potomac River in Oklahoma and Arkansas is listed with Oklahoma's projects.

New construction starts contemplated under the Army Engineer program include Ozark Lock and Dam in Arkansas.

Money is used by the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau to plan, construct and operate various flood control, navigation, irrigation, water storage, power and beach erosion projects.

For the Army Engineers, the President recommended a total of $1,152,164,000 some $57 million above last year's appropriations of $1,095,133,500.

For the Reclamation Bureau the recommended total was $319,800,000, about $34 million below last year's appropriation of $354,081,200.

In his message, Johnson noted that appropriations which he recommended would permit the two agencies to start 44 new projects with an estimated total federal cost of $512 million.

"We must manage and develop our national resources wisely, to meet the needs of an increasing population and growing economy," the President told Congress.

"Even within the limits of a restrictive budgetary policy, public investments must be made in resource conservation and development and in research to enable us to use more effectively our water, land, minerals, forests and other resources," he said.

The Army Engineer program recommended provides funds for 34 new construction starts and 14 new planning starts. Some of these, while classified as new starts, are resummptions of previously started projects or reimbursements for projects built by local interests.

The 34 projects on which Army Engineers are to begin construction will have a total estimated federal cost of $378 million. Funds also will permit completion of 48 projects and continued work on 217 projects.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Parma City Council passed an ordinance Monday night which prohibits selling, giving or furnishing cigarettes, cigars and other tobacco products to persons under 18 years of age, even with a note from the parents.

Violators are liable to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense. Penalties for subsequent offenses include fines of $50 to $300 and 5 to 60 days in jail.

Visit to Britain
LONDON (AP)—Polish Deputy Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz started a week-long visit to Britain Monday in talks with Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler and Trade and Industry Minister Edward Heath.

Money Cut for Some Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $6 million reduction in the appropriation for flood control work on the lower Mississippi River and its tributaries was proposed today by President Johnson.

In the budget which he submitted to Congress, the President recommended an appropriation of $71,860,000 for this area as compared with $77,862,000 voted by Congress last year. Money recommended would be for the year starting next July 1.

The lower Mississippi program is included in appropriations for Army Engineers.

There was no discussion of the lower Mississippi work in the budget message although the summary tables accompanying the message noted the funds recommended would provide for increased operation and maintenance and continue construction on 12 major project features.

Funds recommended by the President would be allocated to individual projects. In Arkansas they are:

Construction—Lower Arkansas River $300,000; St. Francis Basin, Mo., and Ark., $3,700,000; Tensas Basin, Ark., and La., $900,000.

Operation and maintenance—$810,000.

Storms Hit Nevada and California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Heavy snow and rain driven by gale winds continued to buffet Northern California and much of Nevada after chasing people from their homes, snarling traffic and causing injuries Monday.

The forecast today even mentioned the rare "possibility of snow in hills" around the San Francisco Bay area tonight as temperatures were expected to skid in a wide area.

In Orick, 45 miles north of Eureka, Calif., most of the town's 700 residents were back in their homes after being routed when Redwood Creek overflowed. Water was reported five feet deep in the logging community Monday.

In the southern part of Humboldt County, the Eel River broke its banks and flowed into farmland. Wind-felled trees, rain and snow temporarily blocked roads throughout Northern California and Nevada.

Winds were so strong Monday at the Golden Gate Bridge that motorists were asked to slow down and keep to the right-hand lane to avoid being pushed into on-coming vehicles by gusts up to 60 miles per hour.

Traffic on the span and its approaches was snarled for hours as heavy rain and wind tore in to the city during the evening rush hours, stalling many cars.

Radio station KSCO near the ocean at Santa Cruz reported a 30-second gust of wind measured by its instruments at almost 99 m.p.h. Monday night, and a 15-minute average of 80 m.p.h.

Gusts about 50 m.p.h. battered San Francisco and Reno most of the day, damaging cars in the Nevada city. Several San Francisco pedestrians were injured when blown over by the wind, cut by wind-shattered glass or hit by rain-blinded vehicles.

Power was cut to thousands of homes in the San Francisco, Monterey and Sacramento areas for varying amounts of time.

Sacramento streets were flooded as 1.64 inches of rain pelted the capital between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. San Francisco was hit by 1.15 inches from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

State Parks in Budget Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's budget message to Congress today included $168,400 for national parks and memorials in Arkansas.

Pea Ridge National Military Park will get the largest of the Arkansas appropriation—$82,500. That includes $35,800 for restoration of the Elkhorn Tavern and $10,000 for roads and trails.

Arkansas Post National Monument will get $47,900, including $30,200 for a visitor center. Hot Springs National Park will get $38,000 including 12,000 for increasing the depths of baths.

Grandmother Dies at Sea in Balloon

By ROBERT COOKE

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barbara Keith, the flying grandmother who died at sea during the first Catalina Channel hot air balloon race, was named "the first lady of hot air ballooning" as plans were laid for next year's race.

Mrs. Keith, 42, from Hartford, Conn., was found in the ocean Monday, locked in the seat of the hot air balloon that had lifted her off Santa Catalina Island 48 hours earlier.

An autopsy showed she drowned. Chief Deputy Coroner Gene Massey also said she developed pneumonia before she died. He estimated the balloon fell into the sea about 6:15 p.m. Saturday, and said the time of death was probably 2 a.m. Sunday, almost 8 hours later.

Members of the California Balloon Club, however, were undaunted. In a prepared statement issued after a meeting Monday, they said: "We are all terribly grieved at the passing of a gallant and wonderful person, Barbara Keith.

"With the number of boats and aircraft in the area, it is inconceivable to all of us that Mrs. Keith's descent was not seen and she located."

"We believe the magnificent performance of Ed Zost in winning the race, landing safely and exactly where predicted while other balloonists came down just short of the mainland, indicates the challenge and competitiveness of the race. "The balloonists are anxious to see the race continue, and the club is formulating plans for next year's race, hoping to exemplify the spirit typified by the first lady of hot air ballooning, Barbara Keith."

Mrs. Keith's body was located eight miles off Dana Point by the crew of a Coast Guard cutter. The recovery spot is about 25 miles due east of Santa Catalina Island, where nine balloonists took off Saturday afternoon.

Big Sum for Arkansas R. Development

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Appro- priations totaling $84 million — approximately the amount Congress voted last year — were recommended by President Johnson today for spending on the Arkansas River development program in Arkansas and Oklahoma in the year starting July 1.

Under the Army Engineer timetable the 9-foot navigation channel is to be completed to Pine Bluff and Little Rock by 1968, to Fort Smith by 1969 and to Tulsa by 1970.

To advance construction of the series of navigation locks and dams needed for the system — work on which began last year at the lower end of the river — Johnson recommended $42 million, compared with $11 million voted by Congress last year. The lock and dam system is estimated to cost a total of about $450 million.

For bank stabilization and channel rectification work, the President asked $15 million, compared with $18 million voted last year. This program has an estimated cost of $133 million, of which $92 million has been appropriated.

Johnson asked $10 million to continue construction of the Dardanelle Lock and Dam, which would leave only about $20 million needed to complete this $84 million dam.

He asked $6 million each to continue work on the Keystone and Kerr Dams and $3 million for Eufaula Dam all in Oklahoma. Eufaula and Keystone, each costing over $120 million, are nearing completion. Kerr Dam, costing $106 million, is just getting started.

Arkansas water projects in the budget are earmarked for a total of $114 million, or 10 percent of the Army Engineers' civil functions budget of $1,152,000,000. The Arkansas total includes projects in the lower Mississippi River and Tributaries program.

The total in the budget for Oklahoma water projects is $28 million.

Restaurant Chain Desegregates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Toddle House restaurants in Arkansas desegregated Saturday after about 10 persons staged sit-in demonstrations at two of them.

Lawrence Lemmon, manager of the three Toddle Houses at Little Rock, said the firm's home office at Memphis, Tenn., gave the order to "serve Negroes when they come in."

Toddle House also has one restaurant at Texarkana. There was no trouble during the sit-ins.

One white man, seven Negro men and two Negro women sat for about 30 minutes in one restaurant, were not served, and left when asked to do so.

Weather Blue for Late Musician

There was no eulogy, in keeping with the custom of the Episcopal Church.

Teagarden, 58, died last Wednesday in New Orleans of bronchial pneumonia.

DOROTHY DIX

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY

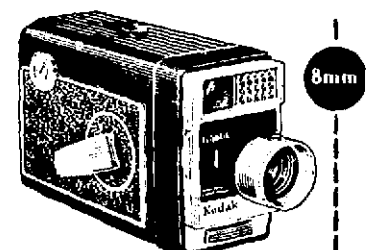

By Helen Worden Erskine
Dear Helen: I've been a bit of driftwood on the sea of life. During World War II I drifted into a romance with a man who worked with me in the same defense plant office. Before you knew it we were dating, then he left his wife (they had no children) and we were spending all our time together. The wife divorced, remarried and now has three children.

Me? I've drifted along for 18 years with her ex-husband, who insists that we are already as good as married, having lived with one another as man and wife. I hesitate to force the issue of marriage because our children and friends think we are legally married. Yet, here I am a wife without benefit of clergy. Neither of us is getting any younger. If he or I died, the truth would out. This would hurt the children. Should I insist that my "husband" marry me at this late date and if so, could the ceremony be kept secret? —Worried Illinois Mother

Dear Worried: Yours is a tough question but for the good of all concerned, especially the children, you should insist upon a marriage ceremony, even at this late date. The Abstract of Illinois Revised Statutes specifically says that common law marriages (and yours is one) were declared null and void in 1909. It further states that children born of such a union may be legitimized upon the parents obtaining a license to mar-be pretty thoroughly discussed by you two with your children's welfare the motivating factor. If possible, go to a strange town for the ceremony and keep it as quiet as possible. There's nothing to be gained and everything to lose by letting friends and neighbors in on the secret. Impress upon your "husband" the necessity for such a step. The sooner done the better.

Dear Helen: My mother makes all of my clothes. She copies dresses like those she wore as a girl; knee-length pleated skirts, overblouses that come to my hips and round-toed slippers. Everyone at school pokes fun at me except a boy who has asked me to go steady. Should I? Mom says No!

I'd like to wear saddle shoes and green and yellow beanies with pompons on the top. I also want to set my hair in rollers. Mom says No! I am 13. She was 41 when I was born and is more like a grandmother than mother. Do you think it right for her to make me look like I stepped out of a 1920 fashion magazine? —Miss Problems.

Dear Miss Problems: If you continue to wear the 1920 style clothes you'll be an avant-garde fashion plate. All the advance styles hark back to flapper days; elongated waist lines, short, pleated skirts, slinky sheaths and — thank heaven — round-toed shoes! The extreme pointed toes and spiked heel slippers are already passe according to stylists. So, tell friends who jeer at your mother's creations that she's designed the last word in clothes for you. Actually, you're lucky to have a mother who cares enough about you in this day and age to make your clothes. I also agree with her about dating and hair-rolling.

Dear Helen: Two pupils of your former husband, the late John Erskine, produced lines which come to mind every time I read your column. One was a poem about Michael Angelo and his creation of Adam on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome:

"A touch of the fingertips and God!"

The other line was in a poem about the Sangre de Cristo Mountains out West and the old monks who pioneered there. The last line, which is the only one I remember begins, "Who called the sunset mountains Blood of Christ?"

I was in Dr. Erskine's class at Columbia in 1919. I don't know the name of the older English author whose riddle he read so beautifully. In later years it came to me in real emotion, but controlled, like his own voice:

"In the fresh fairness of the spring to ride
as in the old days when he rode with her
With joy of youth that had young hope to bride—"

For our reading, Dr. Erskine first prescribed Palgrave's "The Golden Treasury," and "The Golden Bough" (consented) by Frazier, then Austin Dobson's "Proverbs in Porcelain" and "The Shropshire Lad" by A.E. Houseman. Others might profit by these references. —L. G., Baltimore

Dear L.G.: Thank you! If my column ever helps others, it is because of the help and inspiration John Erskine gave me. He felt that life was to be lived at concert pitch; that we must ever strive to do our best, aim always for the stars no matter how often we failed. A favorite line with him from Browning's "Asolando" was "Baffled to Fight Better."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Budget of $97.9 Billion to Congress

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sends to Congress today a $97.9 billion budget aimed at cutting in half the federal deficit while launching an "attack on poverty."

The budget message for fiscal 1965 projects a reversal in the rising tide of government spending. It will be $500 million less than the Kennedy budget of this year—and therefore sure of a friendlier reception in Congress.

It also predicts a multibillion dollar rise in federal revenues—despite the quick and massive tax cut Johnson is demanding—because of the rapidly rising taxable incomes of American businesses and consumers.

The new budget was built, so to speak, in a fishbowl. Step by step, the President announced cost cuts as his economy drive progressed.

These include whacks of more than $1 billion each from defense and agriculture budgets, and an unspecified cutback in the civilian army of federal employees.

The cuts are to be offset to some extent, the White House has revealed, by planned stopups in space, education and welfare spending, and by a request of some $1 billion for an antipoverty drive. The latter has been described only vaguely so far; Johnson said Monday he will detail it in a special message early next month.

Monday night, in an informal talk to delegates attending the annual Congress of American Indians, Johnson said the first-year cost of his antipoverty proposals will be $300 million.

500 grant the city already received from the administration. The money will be matched by Paragould for a water and sewer improvements program. Residents approved a $1 million bond issue for the city's share.

CHATTER

By "BILL"

Recently I read a little article about hidden taxes which is almost unbelievable. The Tax Foundation found out that there are 100 taxes on an egg; 116 on a man's suit; 151 on a loaf of bread and 150 on a woman's hat!

How on earth they could get 150 taxes on those adorable little Spring bonnets is more than we can possible imagine! Why, they are nothing but a whisper of veiling, a hunk of straw, some beautiful little hand made flowers and a bow or two.

And . . . it just could be that taxes are based on appeal; in that case it is perfectly understandable.

Yes, our Spring hats are coming in every day; some are little, some are big and some in-between. But they are ALL smart. They give you a lift; just try one on and you will see!

And of course you will want to see the Spring dresses while you are here. We especially like the Jon McCauley jacket dress, so versatile, so smart looking, so ready for any occasion, sizes 8 to 18 and only $29.95.

If you would like to get that "June in January" feeling, just look at our vibrant flower-fresh colors in linens. They are tailored to crisp perfection, they are crease resistant, they are ready to go or stay and they are Jeanne Durrell designs.

We could talk forever about the Koret of California cotton knits . . . The 3 piece costume for $25.95 is the best buy yet. In fact they all look like the more expensive spreads . . . we mean knits . . . and you will say so too when you try one on. If you feel real daring and want something truly wild and awfully smart, try Jacques Cartiere's double knit suits in the new Zekrome fiber in all the new Spring colors . . . you will love them!

We could go on forever, but since you know this is an ad and we have to pay for it . . . we had better cut the chatter and get to work. Come see us; we'll be looking for you at Raley's Style Shoppe, 523 West Third Street.

Spring Hill Downs Hope B Team Monday

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

First round results of the County Tournament at Guernsey last night found Hope's "B" Boys downed by Spring Hill 73-62, but the Junior Girls moved a step closer to the finals by shading Saratoga 32-28.

A rally staged by Buddy Jordan and Dennis Ramsey in the final period against the Spring Hill subs made a vain attempt for a comeback, but the initial lead was much too overcome, and the "B" Boys leveled off their record at 1-2-2.

Buddy Jordan was high point man with a big 21 points, all but 2 of which he racked up in the last half. Larry May was next in line with 19. Dennis Ramsey had 8. Jack Watkins 6, and Ronnie Ingram 5.

The Junior Girls had to score their second win in a stretch in a come-from-behind victory. Debbie Connelly was high for the girls with 13 points. Cindy Reese had 8. Carol Anthony 7, and Barbara Thompson 4.

Tonight the Senior Girls and Boys play host to Prescott. In other play the Spring Hill Junior boys defeated Saratoga by a 3 to 29 score with Kidd and Key losing in 10 each for the winners and Arnold making 14 for Saratoga.

Games tonight, starting at 6:15 p.m. pair Spring Hill and Guernsey Jr. girls; Blevins and Guernsey Jr. boys; Blevins and Spring Hill Sr. girls.

Didn't Work for Fighter Dempsey

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It didn't work. The Milwaukee Journal said after recasting the method of encasing Jack Dempsey's hands in plaster of paris as his manager says was done for the heavyweight title fight with Jess Willard more than 40 years ago.

Journal boxing writer Evans Kirby says standins for all the main figures were assembled to do all the things Jack Kearns said in a magazine article were done before the fight in which Dempsey belted out Willard in three rounds on July 4, 1919 in Toledo.

"Using the same materials in the same way that Kearns described, showed that a plaster fast could not be made that way," Kirby wrote. "Or maybe we weren't good plasterers."

Standing in for Kearns in the experiment was Al Fain, a veteran boxing figure who has taped boxers' hands for more than half a century. Eddie Metrie, a boxing manager and gymnasium operator, took the part of Walter Moynahan, Willard's chief second. Frank Linnemansons, a Golden Gloves heavyweight, was assigned Dempsey's part.

The Kearns' description told how he wound on Dempsey's bandages as Moynahan looked on, then used a sponge to soak the wrappings. The next step, as related by Kearns, was to heavily sprinkle the plaster of

Bobcats Meet Prescott Here Tonight

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

Relief from the strenuous pace of 4AA competition comes tonight for the Bobcats when they face Prescott in Jones Field House.

The Senior Boys and the Senior Girls both have games on tap. This is one of the few chances for local fans to see both the Ladies and the Cats in action on the same court. The fact is that the crowds of late have left much to be desired, so why not come out tonight and support the Bobcats?

Paris from a powder can onto the soaked bandages.

All was done as prescribed, said Kirby, whose story continued:

"What did we get when the mess had dried?"

"We got a thin layer of soft cement which cracked at a slight touch and fell from the bandages at a slight brushing. Little if any of the plaster of paris would have been on the bandages by the time Dempsey traveled from his dressing room to the ring, where the gloves were put on. If any had remained, it would have turned to powder at the first light blow."

"It appears that Kearns, one of the greatest of old fashioned pitchers, conned to the end."

Kirby and his crew carried the experiment one step further and found a way to produce a reasonably formidable weapon. But the construction was so elaborate, Kirby said, that Dempsey and Moynahan would have to have known what was going on. This does not fit with Kearns' report that Dempsey was too nervous to notice what was taking place.

This method involved dusting plaster of paris onto every circle of gauze, adding the water and letting each layer dry before the next was added.

Kirby's report on the experiments added one more line: "Dempsey deserves something better than unproved and unprovable charges after all these years."

Lillard and Bopp Pace Bowling Meet

DALLAS (AP)—Jean Bopp of Milwaukee and Bill Lillard of Dallas will pace a sharply reduced field of survivors into the final day of qualifying at the All Star Bowling Tournament today.

Mrs. Bopp, a housewife, has piled up a record 20-game total of 4195, shattering the previous mark set by Marion Ladewig last year by 10 pins. Mrs. Bopp rolled a record 760 three game series Sunday and came back Monday with four game series of 907 and 807 in the semifinals.

Bobbe North of Pomona, Calif., was in far away second place with a 4009 aggregate. The pretty red-head shot 788 and 795 four game blocks Monday.

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was eliminated Sunday night when she failed to survive the semifinal cut which reduced the women's field from 144 to 48.

Lillard, who won this title in 1956, has amassed a 20-game total of 4363. Lillard rolled a solid 844 four game series Monday in the final block of men's preliminaries.

Mike Chiuchio, Patchogue, N.Y., stayed close on the leader's heels with 4346. He shot 839 Monday.

Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., came up with a 905 series in the final block of qualifying, which boosted him to third place with 4334.

The original field of 288 men was chopped to 96 Monday night to determine the men semifinals.

Russia Gets Nod in Competition

By JOHN JACKSON
INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—With eight days to go before the Jan. 29 opening of the Winter Olympics one thing seems certain—Russia should have no trouble collecting the gold medal in hockey.

The names of Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and Canada are being bandied around by local hockey experts but all agree Russia is the team to beat.

The USSR squad is the reigning Olympic and world champions. This winter the Russians completed a highly successful tour of the U.S. and Canada, and swept all before them in Europe.

UCLA Named Top National Cage Team

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quickest road to a berth in the Associated Press' weekly basketball poll is the one paved with victories, but DePaul was beginning to wonder.

The Blue Demons had won 11 straight games in what was to have been a rebuilding season but were unable to crack the Top Ten. Then last week DePaul whipped highly regarded Dayton 89-83 and presto, the door to the Top Ten finally swung open.

A special panel of writers and broadcasters awarded the No. 9 spot to DePaul this week after Cincinnati obligingly had dropped a pair of games and qualified for dismissal. The Bearcats, beaten by Bradley and Drake, replaced DePaul among the also-rans this week.

UCLA continues to lead the poll but there was plenty of shuffling in the spots behind the undefeated Bruins, who've won 15 straight. The Uclans collected 38 first-place votes on the 43 ballots and accumulated 423 points.

Michigan jumped a notch to second place with 350 points.

Michigan jumped a notch to second place with 350 points. Loyola of Chicago, idle last week, slipped to third with 294. Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.

Undefeated Davidson moved up to fourth place ahead of Kentucky while Vanderbilt maintained its No. 6 spot. Villanova and Duke each jumped two slots—the Wildcats to No. 7 and the Blue Devils to No. 8. Oregon State, No. 7 a week ago, slipped to 10th place, sharing it with a returnee, Wichita.

The top ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, Jan. 18, and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

filling with other competitors. All the bobsled squads have arrived and today will have their second training runs on the Olympic course at Igls. Monday's two-man times were fast and only the United States had a mishap.

John Handley, 40, an ex-Marine from Malone, N.Y., fell from a sled piloted by Charles McDonald, 31, also from Malone. He was not hurt and will take part in the four-man run today.

At Seefeld the Nordic cross country and ski jump teams from Switzerland, West Germany and Russia are expected to have their first test of the course. East Germany, Finland and some of the Russian women already have tried out the course.

Last to arrive will be the skiers who have decided to stay with the snow in Italy and other European ski resorts, rather than risk restricted training in Innsbruck.

Hunting Season Extended 10 Days

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission announced Monday a 10-day extension of quail and rabbit hunting season through Feb. 10.

The commission granted the extension after it was requested by many of the 140 persons who attended a public hearing held at Little Rock Monday by the commission.

A spokesman said the extension was granted because hunters were kept out of the woods during much of the regular season because of bad weather.

Upsets Hurt Loyola and Wake Forest

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seat belts are regarded as a safety device. So is so-called safe scheduling for college basketball teams. Sometimes, however, there are nights when nothing works.

Like Monday night. A seat belt failed to help Wake Forest and a safe schedule failed to help national champion Chicago Loyola. Each was the victim of a shocking upset.

Loyola, ranked third in the nation and winner of 11 and 12 starts, supposedly had a safe schedule in its trip to Memphis State, which had only an 8-6 record. Memphis State won 83-65.

And Wake Forest Coach Bones McKinney, known for his jumping, shouting and pacing on the sidelines, decided to strap himself to the bench with a car seat safety belt when his Deacons played Maryland at Winston-Salem, N.C. Maryland won 91-82.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Orange Bowl to Be Played at Night

MIAMI (AP)—The watchful eye of television has turned the Orange Bowl football classic into a night game as part of a three-sided bowl spectacular.

The change from traditional New Year's Day scheduling came Monday when the National Broadcasting Co. bought television rights to the game for the next three years. The purchase price was $225,000 per year for the game with an additional $75,000 to be paid for other Orange Bowl events.

NBC plans to air some eight hours of bowl action on New Year's Day and night, starting with the Sugar Bowl at 2 p.m. EST, and following with the Rose Bowl and finally the Orange Bowl, with the latter scheduled for an 8 p.m. EST kickoff.

Orange Bowl spokesmen said the change was designed to take their game out of competition with the Sugar and Cotton bowls and free visitors to enjoy daytime activities in Miami.

A night game also will negate the hot weather factor. Visiting Big Eight teams, used to playing in weather, are sometimes exhausted by the blazing sun.

William S. Otis of Massachusetts developed a crude steam shovel in 1838 and it was used to dig the roadbed for a railroad.

Ortiz, Lane Match Tied Up Legally

NEW YORK (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and No. 1 contender Kenny Lane likely will have to punch their way out of some legal skirmishes before they ever get to climb in a ring and throw punches at each other.

The World Boxing Association has been trying to arrange a championship fight between Ortiz, of New York, and Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., for some time. The entire matter seemed settled Saturday but began to get a bit complicated Monday.

Ortiz, boarding a plane in San Juan for a trip to New York, said he would sue the WBA if the organization tries to strip him of his crown for meeting junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde in a title fight.

At the same time, Lane ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission over a bout with Johnny Bizarro.

Ortiz said he had made a commitment with promoter Lope Sarreal for a February championship fight with Elorde, and will go through with it despite WBA opposition.

The WBA's executive committee denied Saturday an application for a championship fight between Ortiz and Elorde. Instead, the committee approved a contract for a title fight between Ortiz and Lane to be held April 4, in Puerto Rico.

The Ortiz-Lane contract prohibits Ortiz from defending his title before the match—or against Elorde. The WBA said Ortiz could fight Elorde, but not for the title.

Lane, meanwhile, ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania commission, which said it had received a telegram from Lane's manager, Pete Petroskey, saying Lane could not go through with a fight against Bizarro, scheduled for Jan. 30 in Erie, Pa.

Commission Chairman Frank B. Wildman Jr. said Lane must fulfill the obligation to fight Bizarro or face suspension in Pennsylvania. He added that should Lane fail to meet Bizarro, the commission would take action to have Lane suspended by the WBA.

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (AP)—Two brothers have been suspended from the Elliot Lake High School for refusing to serve an hour's detention for staying away from school to watch President Kennedy's funeral on television.

The boys are Rainer and Gerhard Warkholdt, 17 and 15. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Warkholdt, said they kept the boys home to watch the Nov. 25 telecast.

WHAT COLLEGE EDUCATION MEANS—It has been said that the college graduate will net more earnings in his lifetime than the nongraduate. Above chart tells what a June 1958 bachelor's degree graduate is averaging as of May 1960. However, while the pharmacist has gained a foothold in his profession in the two years, the law student or medical student requires more study and training in order to establish himself. This is reflected in his income after two years. Then, too, all graduates are not employed directly in a field related to their college study. In this group the student's occupational field accounts for the largest source of his employment. Data from National Science Foundation.

Charles Eaket said the youths would not be allowed to return to school until "they agree to pay their debt to society."

Mr. and Mrs. Warkholdt, who emigrated from Germany in the early 1950s, said they had retained a lawyer to investigate the case.

"I was raised under a dictatorship, with no freedom of speech, thinking or actions," Mrs. Warkholdt told a newsman. "I feel offended by this decision."

TOKYO (AP)—Six members of the French National Assembly arrived in Peking Sunday to study the possibilities of economic and cultural agreements between France and Communist China.

The group, which represents a cross-section of French political opinion, went with the blessing of President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle's government has notified the United States it plans to recognize the Peking regime. Francois Benard, leader of the parliamentary delegation, told newsmen he would not be surprised if the recognition was extended during their trip.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Bojan Tchinkov, an architect in Plovdiv, Bulgaria has been sentenced to five years in prison for telling a "calumnious" joke about Bulgaria's Communist regime, according to press reports reaching Belgrade.

The reports did not retell the joke.

Political jokes are punishable in Bulgaria under a special law approved three weeks ago.

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Bad weather has delayed Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver's arrival in Afghanistan.

His plane is stranded on the Afghan-Iranian border in Zahidan. He was due in Kabul late Saturday. But snow began to fall again today and officials said it is unlikely Shriver could land today.

Shriver is on a tour of the Near East and Southeast Asia, inspecting Peace Corps activities and delivering messages to

Clergymen in Film Land to View Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The nation's most important movie reviewer is in town to meet new bosses of the film studios.

"I came out to show them that I don't have horns and to see that they don't, either," smiled Msgr. Thomas F. Little between studio visits.

For 16 years the clergyman has been executive secretary of the National Legion of Decency, which advises the country's 40 million Catholics on the moral acceptability of film fare.

"We generally see all the important films before they are released," Msgr. Little commented. "Since the Legion is an extra-legal body, there is no power of compulsion. But very often companies will follow our suggestions in making certain deletions in order to get a more favorable rating."

A cheery, ruddy-faced New Yorker who was once a curate in an Italian parish, Msgr. Little has seen virtually every film of any importance for 17 years.

The Legion procedure is this: A group of laymen and women and priests sees the submitted film and makes a recommendation. Msgr. Little and his aide, Father Patrick J. Sullivan, see the film and determine if the recommendation coincides. If not, the film is submitted to another audience of professional men, husbands and wives, churchmen and others, and a decision is reached.

The film then is labeled as family fare, adults only, permissible for adults with reservations or condemned. Only 13 films, mostly foreign, were condemned last year.

"Eighty-five per cent of last year's films were considered acceptable by some segment of the audience, and that is not bad," said Msgr. Little. "But what we think is bad is movie advertising."

One of the Legion's concerns, he added, was the current run of sex comedies.

"Many of these films flirt around with accepted immorality and illicit sex, only to have some accident happen so the act is not carried out," he said.

MOSCOW (AP)—The death sentence given Rabbi Benjamin Gavrilov of Pyatigorsk has been commuted to 15 years imprisonment, Jewish sources report.

The rabbi and several other persons were convicted last summer of currency speculation. Jewish sources said the Supreme Court commuted his death sentence about two months ago and the action was announced in Israel a week ago.

It was believed the Russian government wanted to counteract resentment the death sentence aroused among Israelis.

Edwards Is First Catcher to Sign Up

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Johnny Edwards, the busiest catcher in the major leagues last year and the only player benched by an umpire, is the first member of the Reds to sign his 1964 baseball contract.

Edwards, a 25-year-old left-handed batter who has improved in each of his three years in the majors, caught 148 games last season and led the National League with 1,101 total chances, 1,008 putouts and probably the most embarrassing incident of the season.

That came at the All-Star game in Cleveland, where Edwards became conspicuous by his presence.

Ed Bailey had started behind the plate for the National League and in the bottom of the third inning, Manager Al Dark decided to make a switch. In went Edwards. And out he came, just as promptly. Then Dark came out of the dugout. And Bailey went into the game.

Umpire Hank Soar explained to Dark that all starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings.

Besides, Edwards, 18 other players signed Monday—the Los Angeles Dodgers again No. 1 on a quantity basis with seven.

Agreeing to terms with the world champions were infielders Dick Tracewski and Derrell Griffith, pitchers Nick Willitte, Ken Rowe, Norm Koch and Larry Staab and first baseman-outfielder Wes Parker.

The Chicago Cubs signed pitchers Fred Burdette, Wayne Carlander and Wayne Shurr and infielder Leo Burke. Minnesota's Twins signed second baseman Bernie Allen, infielder John Goryl and pitcher John Nieson.

The New York Yankees got pitchers Bill Stafford and Howard Kilt to agree to terms. The Cleveland Indians received a signed contract from outfielder Al Smith and the Philadelphia Phillies signed outfielder Alex Johnson.

Canada Selling Bull to Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba is getting 13,000 Holstein bulls from Canada to improve its cattle. Havana radio reports.

Maj. Armando Acosta, general secretary of the United Party of the Socialist Revolution, announced in Santiago Monday that the bulls would begin arriving in April.

The broadcast, monitored here, did not say what financial arrangements were made or how the bulls would be shipped.

"Under the Yum-Yum Tree" was one of those; it was saved only by a good speech that indicated that the situation had been immoral.

"Our problem is how the subject is treated. Films like 'Love With a Proper Stranger,' 'Tom Jones' and 'The L-Shaped Room' have treated touchy subjects in an artistic manner. But some supposedly adult films are merely adulterous."

The Legion's function is not merely negative, Msgr. Little said. It also confers an accolade on films worthy of family patronage. Recipients have been "To Kill a Mockingbird" and various Disney offerings.

Glenn Wins One Round in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Registered Democratic voters will decide without a recommendation from the Ohio party organization between Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and incumbent U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for Senate nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary election.

The Glenn camp, Young and State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman all say they are satisfied with the outcome of Monday's political hassle.

But the newcomer to politics, Glenn, appears to be the big winner.

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the popular-primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsement for either Young or Glenn—and as a result, for nobody for any office at stake this year.

It was "mission accomplished" for backers of Glenn the 42-year-old Marine Corps veteran who rocketed to fame 23 months ago as the first American to orbit the earth.

Young said in Washington Monday night that the convention result left him "very serene and contented" and "expectant of victory. But the 74-year-old senator, opposed by a man 32 years his junior, had called for a showdown on endorsement for whatever value it might have had in getting the grass-roots party forces out in his behalf.

Coleman only Sunday night had told Young that he could

Still More Night Games in Baseball

CINCINNATI (AP)—There are still more night games ahead in the 1964 National League baseball season.

From April 13, when the Cincinnati Reds play their home opener, until the season ends Oct. 4, a total of 438 games have been scheduled under the lights. Postponements and make-up games raised last year's total to 423.

Since Cincinnati was the home of the first professional baseball team, the Reds always open the season at home and they'll be in action a day ahead of all other clubs this year—meeting Houston. The other clubs start playing the next day, with Los Angeles entertaining St. Louis and New York at Philadelphia, Chicago at Pittsburgh and Milwaukee at San Francisco.

Philadelphia and Los Angeles will open their seasons under the lights, and so will Houston, which plays its first home game April 16 against Milwaukee. Almost all the Colts' home game—a total of 77—will be at night.

The Mets will play their season opener—and first game at Flushing meadows—on April 17 against Milwaukee, and the Chicago Cubs are to host Philadelphia for their first home game the same day.

Milwaukee and St. Louis will be the last teams to have their "second openers." The Braves will host San Francisco and the Cardinals, Los Angeles on April 22.

have the convention endorsement if he wanted it.

So when the delegates voted 343-329 against single endorsements for each office, it had to shape up as a triumph for the Glenn forces. This was just what their strategy had called for.

Glenn remained in his hotel suite several floors above the ballroom where the convention was taking place. Afterward, he told newsmen: "You know I would like to say something but I'm not allowed to."

He has explained that he can't campaign or take a more active part in politics until his release from the Marine Corps comes through.

World's highest active volcano is Cotopaxi, in the Andes of Ecuador, which rises to a height of 19,334 feet.

The accident occurred on Highway 18 about five miles northeast of Newport, near area State Police headquarters.

Obituary
Dr. James LaFayette Horace graduated from Prairie View State College of Texas and entered the field of banking at Nashville, Tennessee where he served for ten years as recording secretary of the Sunday School Publishing Board. He entered the ministry and his first church was the Reanoke Baptist Church of Hot Springs, Arkansas. Responding to the guidance of the Spirit to a larger field of labor he accepted a call to the Monumental Baptist Church of Chicago, Illinois.

This vast city with its intricate problems offered a disturbing challenge, and at the same time provided him an outlet for his unusual ability. He took the Monumental Baptist Church with less than 250 members and built it to 2,500. Proof of the Program's adequacy was shown by the thorough manner in which he organized the church membership and the effective way that the institution met the needs of the community.

Meanwhile Dr. Horace continued to further his training and thereby more thoroughly prepared for the gigantic responsibility which rested upon him as a prominent leader. He went to Northwestern University and won the B. S. Degree, and won the B. D. Degree from the Garrett Theological Seminary and was given his D. D. Degree from Virginia Union University for meritorious work in the Religious and Social Field and did post graduate work at the University of Chicago.

For 21 years he served as president of the Baptist General State Convention, Inc., of Illinois, where he gave unparalleled leadership and was voted President Emeritus in June of 1960.

In 1945 he was sent to San Francisco, California along with Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard University and Bishop H. T. Medford of Washington, D. C. to the United Nations on behalf of the Negro Church as an observer. Dr. Horace was elected president of the Council of colored nations which were 12, and they formed some of the planks that were included in the Charter of the United Nations.

In 1952, he organized the Gethsemane Baptist Temple with 42 members and built it to 300 and gave it up to a young man whom he admired and went west for better climate assuming the pastorate of the New Hope Baptist Church in Wilmette, California.

After coming to Hope to make his home, he joined the Loneok Baptist Church where funeral service will be held Wednesday, January 22, at 2 p.m. Burial in Cave Hill Cemetery. Hicks Funeral Home, Inc., in charge.

Nobody paid any attention to me on the way out. The front of the police station looked like early Boxer Rebellion done over by Zorro.

For a side street there was quite a bit of traffic, and all the parking slots along the curb light changed and we went ahead.

Then we swung left just before we reached the big hotel and got down to apartment row. All new, not too pretentious. We went into one of the apartment parking areas. The slot she selected had "2-B-Charlton" printed in square letters on the curb.

Before we got out of the car she put her hand on my arm. For the first time those amazing dark eyes of hers met mine personally. "I am sorry for what happened to you," she said, "and I do appreciate what you did. Now, please, when you talk to Jack Charlton, don't make anything of what happened between him and Chet... for my sake..." Her touch lingered after she had finished speaking.

It occurred to me that she was the kind of girl you'd do anything for, but then, I'd never heard of an eternal quadrangle. "I wasn't interested in the details," I said.

As we walked toward the apartment and up the front steps I discovered a couple of unimportant things, like the fact she was about three inches shorter than I was and that according to the view in the double glass doors we looked good together.

She used a key to let us in the front apartment on the second floor and excused herself to go find Charlton. "Real estate, oil, imported cars, used cars, and you name it," I fitted the room. Furniture, carpets, drapes, and such—all went together, except for the large executive desk with glass over the fin-grained top.

Jack Charlton came into it alone. He was wearing a white T-shirt, gray flannel slacks, and scuffs half slipped over his bare feet. He was carrying a tall glass of tomato juice.

"Mr. Duffey," he smiled a solid smile. "I understand I well may owe it to you that I'm still on my feet and not in a hospital."

"You don't owe me a thing. That's something we should get straight. I didn't do what I did for your sake. I did it because of the thing he was doing to you."

"That's a strange thing to say."

"You can take it or leave it," I told him.

Charlton studied me. I could have been one of Herbert's prize finches. I was being judged. Finally the preoccupation of judgment left his glance, and suddenly there was some life in his eyes. He laughed and his eyes laughed with him. "I like you," he said to me.

"That's your affair," I said. "Now I've been thanked, do you suppose it's legitimate for me to leave town?"

His eyes narrowed. "Afraid of Frazier?"

"I'm an ex-con. I've been told to move. I'm moving."

"You told Frazier you didn't do it."

"What difference does that make?"

"You also got the Silver Star 'The Navy Cross.'"

He shrugged.

"So I didn't know," he said. "It was a brilliant conversation and I was being as stupid as usual. 'Look, Mr. Charlton,' I said, 'I appreciate your gratitude. As I told you, you don't

THE STORY: Al Duffey mixes in brawl in a tavern at a small Arizona town. The results are not good for Duffey.

CHAPTER II

It was really a very comfortable jail. The morning light came through turquoise bars and for a while I lay on my back staring at the ceiling considering some aches and pains I hadn't noticed the night before. Last night I had wondered briefly why Chet Covalt wasn't accepting the same sort of free accommodation. Then I had remembered that I was a "tourist," while Covalt obviously was not.

At 10 o'clock they took me back to Frazier's office. He wore his eyes in patchpockets and looked as if he had had a lot less sleep than I had.

"Sit down, Duffey," he said. "I sat."

He motioned to an envelope spilled open on the table before him. My money and wallet were there. "We've checked with Los Angeles," he said.

"Then there's nothing to discuss," I suggested.

His eyes studied my face. "You're a car thief, Duffey. You've had your night's lodging. Now we suggest you get out of town. That's a pretty strong suggestion, son."

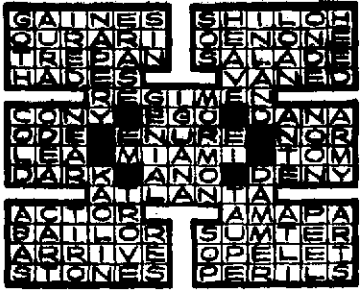

I said, "If you called Los Angeles, you know I've served my time. The fact also remains that I didn't do it. In either case, I'm paid up in full."

"You're a car thief," Frazier repeated. "This is a tourist town and the tourist season. A lot of 'em leave a lot of expensive iron standing around with the keys in the ignition. This weekend we've got a big rodeo. My boys are going to be awful busy. So you get

Foreign Aid Cut Is for Future Only

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The one-third cut that Congress made in the administration's proposed foreign aid program may hamper some future spending. But for the near term the money should roll out in about the same volume as if Congress hadn't wielded the paring knife.

The fight this year will be more than ever over the principles involved in economic aid and the effects on the American and world economies, first of the outflow of US dollars, and second of the uses other lands make of it.

The administration had asked $4.5 billion in new money for foreign aid, military and economic, and Congress cut this to $3 billion. This slice was the largest percentage in the history of the postwar program.

But the dispensers have $400 million still unobligated from the 1963 fiscal year appropriation of $3.9 billion. Also some $7 billion already obligated for specific programs but still unspent is available.

The more critical effect of the congressional vote may lie in its imposing new conditions on what money can be given to specific countries.

The debate which is sure to come up this year may go farther along those lines but also include moves to switch more of the help for developing countries from U.S. government funds to private investment.

How such help is now distributed is discussed by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York in its January survey.

Total government and private flow of straight economic aid from the industrialized world to the less developed lands in 1961 is put at $9.1 billion, with $4.5 billion of that coming from the United States.

The American contribution included $1.5 billion of government economic aid; $886 million in farm surpluses either given away or sold for soft, inconvertible, currencies; $285 million in contributions to international agencies and $852 million in loans of the Export-Import Bank.

In the government aid sector much of the debate will center on the impact of such U.S. aid spending on the balance of payments. For several years an average of three billion more dollars have flowed out of the country each year than have come back in international trade and financial dealings.

A Business Cashes in on Thought

By PHIL KEUPER
NEW YORK (AP) — Quadri-Science Inc. is a company without a plant, machines or salesmen. It makes nothing. Few people know it exists.

The company's assets consist mainly of some of the best brains in the world.

"It thinks," says Dr. Polykarp Kusch, a Nobel Prize-winner in physics, Columbia University professor and Quadri-Science president.

In return for its thoughts, Quadri-Science becomes a part owner of its clients.

Thinking along with Kusch are Dr. Harold C. Urey (Nobel Prize in chemistry), Dr. Joshua Lederberg (Nobel Prize in medicine), Dr. James A. Van Allen (discoverer of the radiation belts that surround the earth), Dr. Samuel K. Allison, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, Dr. Huntington Harris and Charles Tyroler II, its executive vice president.

So far three companies, all small and in the scientific field, have a connection with Quadri-Science. In return for stock in the companies, Quadri-Science makes available the talents and prestige of its scientists.

The arrangement is new even for an age when many scientists are capitalizing on their brains as consultants, heads of research organizations or as presidents of companies. Quadri-Science represents an attempt by basic research scientists to try their hand in the business world while devoting their major efforts to research and professorships.

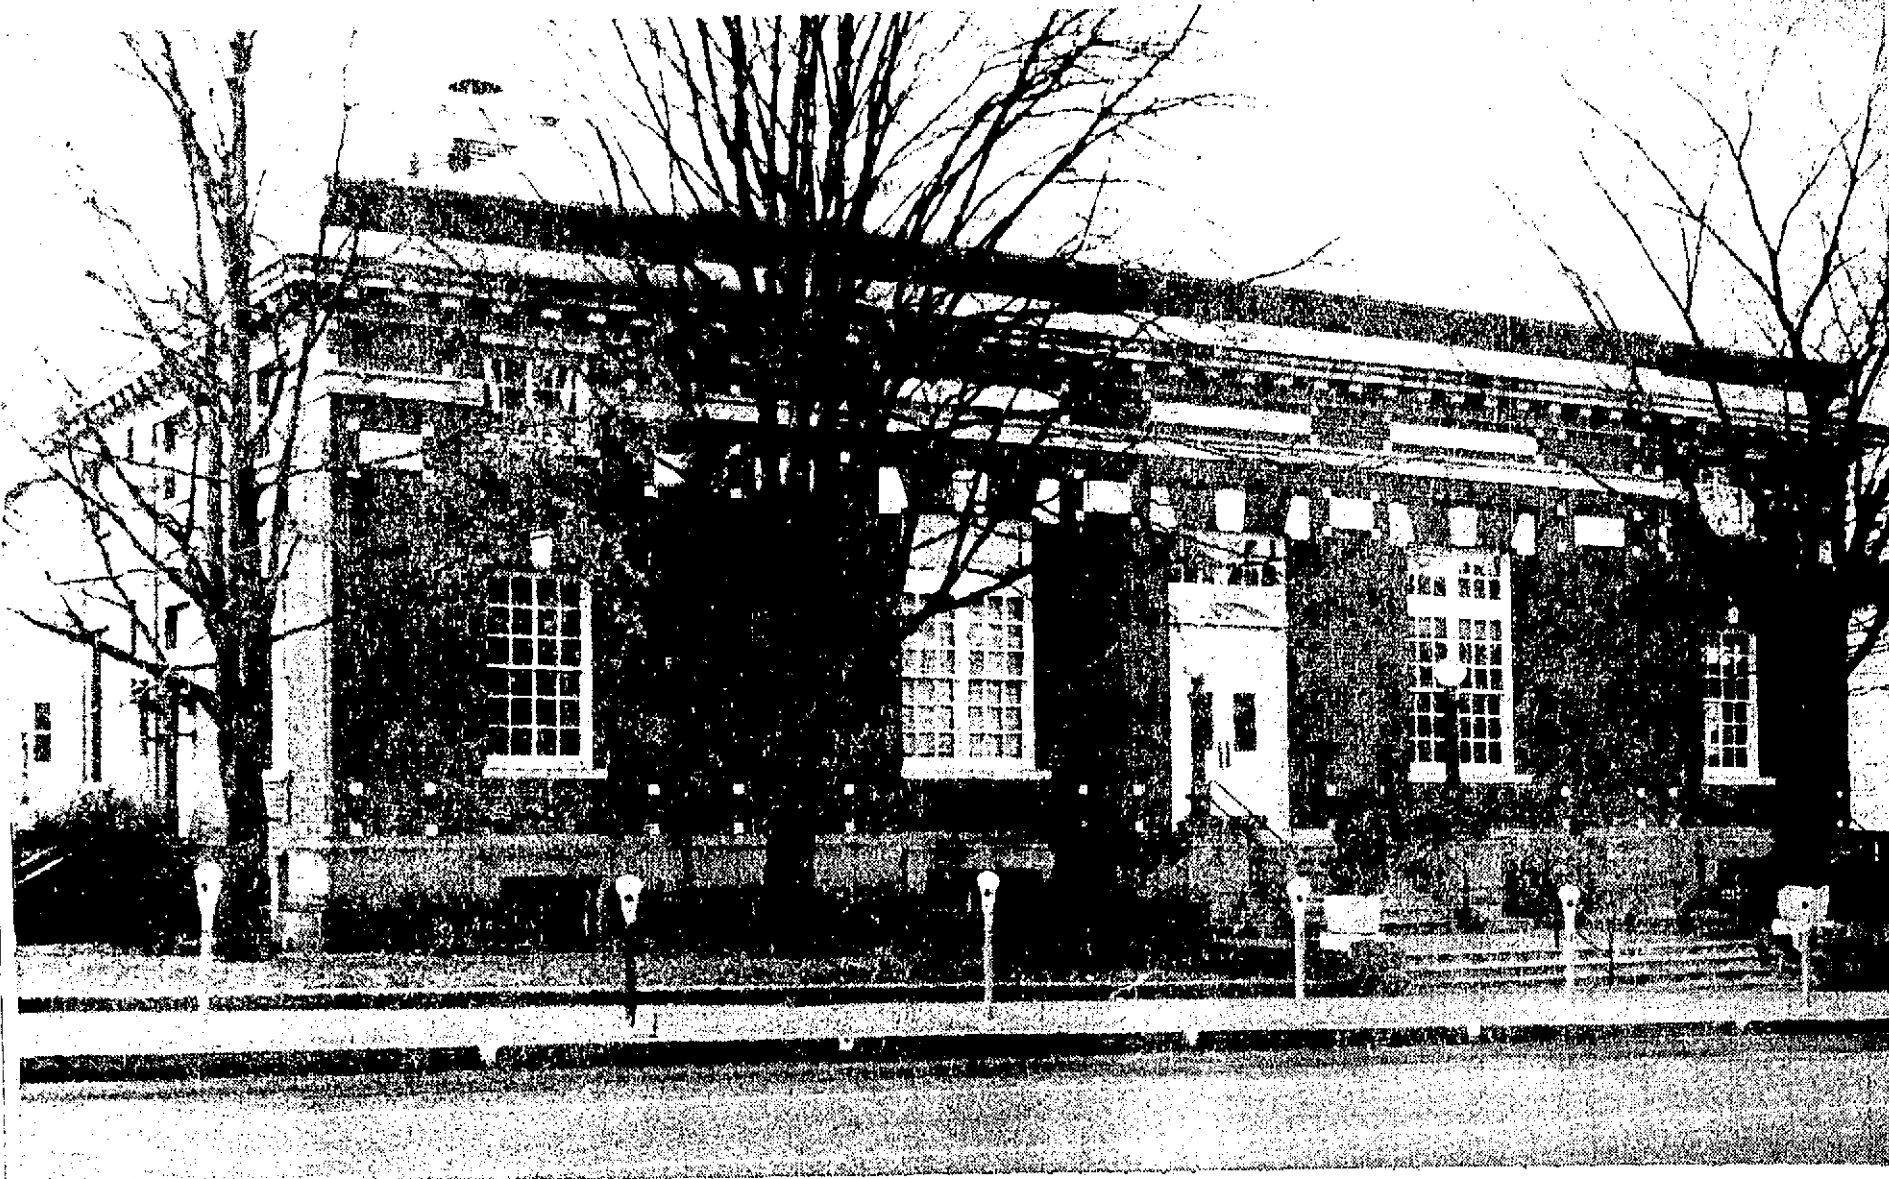

Quadri-Science believes its scientists can spot the directions in which science and technology are heading. Then they can guide a company on possible new products.

Quadri-Science was formed by its members in 1961. It occupies two floors of an office building in Washington, where its regular meetings are held.

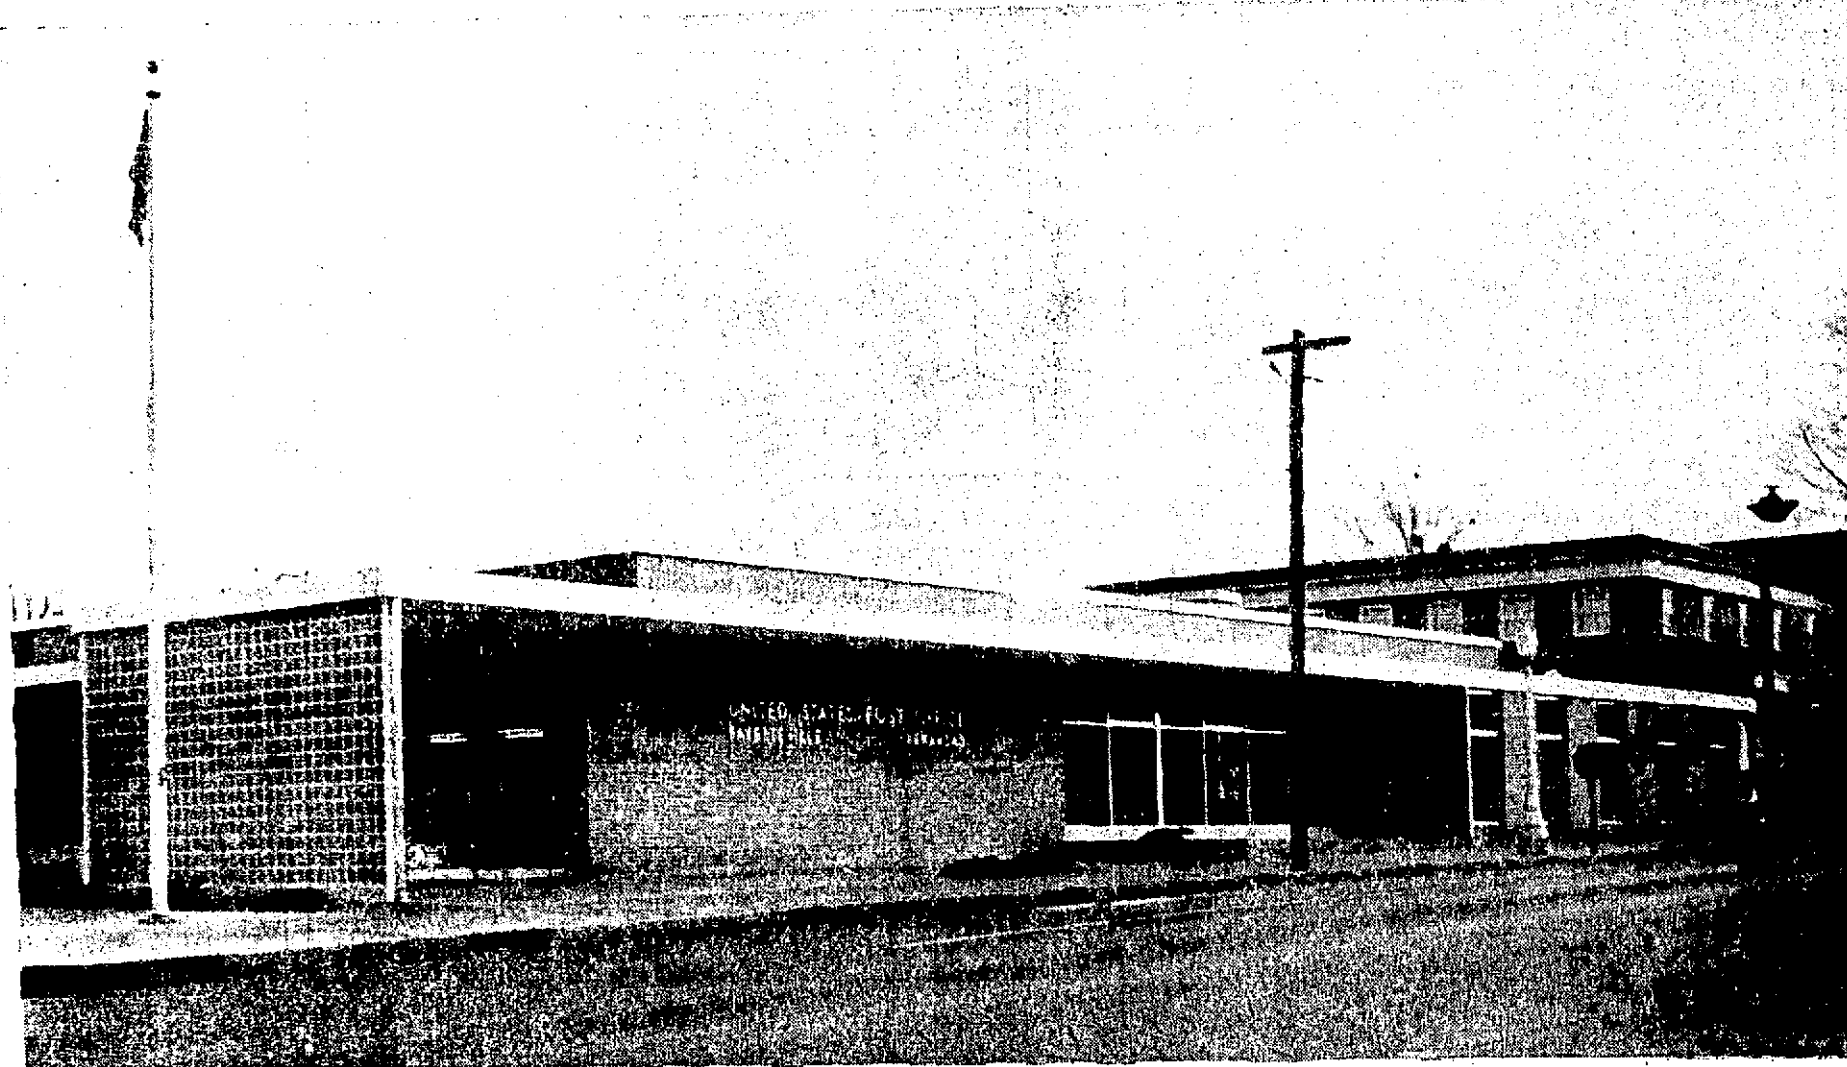

Urey, chairman of the board, is a University of California chemistry professor. Lederberg is at the Stanford University medical school. Van Allen is a professor at the University of Iowa.

Art Show Called Warm Rich Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Art washes away from the soul the dust of everyday life," said Picasso.

Art critic Aline Saarinen Sunday night used the quotation to explain what paintings mean to five private citizens on a warm, rich NBC special program called "the art of collecting."

With the knowledgeable Mrs. Saarinen as guide, the cameras showed us some of the old masters in the fabulous collection owned by a New York financier, the varied collection — ranging from dolls to textiles — of a New Mexico architect, the mixture of old masters and moderns assembled by a Los Angeles businessman, and the modern paintings and sculpture owned by the governor of New York.

We saw a king's ransom in Rembrandts, El Grecos, Matisses, Picassos and Degas. But perhaps the most interesting was the collection of a Seattle airline pilot who simply bought paintings that he liked.

Donizetti's music is delightful and the NBC Opera Company sang his "Lucia Di Lammermoor" in great style Sunday. The production was great and so were the voices.

But there is one thing to be said in favor of opera when it is sung in a language the listener does not understand. The

Arkansan Named by Urban League

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller of Morrilton and Leon Davis of Tulsa were named co-chairman of a Southern Advisory Committee to the National Urban League Saturday.

Clarence D. Coleman, director of the league's Southern Regional office, said the committee would try to create new Urban Leagues in the South.

The committee grew out of two 1963 meetings of white and Negro leaders from 10 Southern states, held at Rockefeller's home and at Memphis, Coleman said.

libretto does not get in the way of much appreciation.

NBC had an English language version of the Italian opera about the Scottish lass. Every single syllable came over as clear as Ethel Merman doing "No Business Like Show Business," and that creaky old plot, a stepchild of "Romeo and Juliet" certainly interfered with the beautiful sounds.

The Bob Hope Christmas show, which turns up on NBC around this time every year, is not much if one is looking for a slick, fast-paced variety show. But year after year it turns out to be a happy heart-warming experience for millions.

Friday night's 90-minute special was a patchwork of film shot during the holiday trip. Hope and his troupe made to Greece, Turkey and Italy among other stops, to entertain servicemen in our military outposts.

The real stars of the program were the servicemen — mostly young ones — in the audience. They roared at Hope's wisecracks about the brass, the food the recreation and transportation.

Survival Exercise Is Successful

MARLTON, N.J. (AP) — A survival exercise involving more than 200 persons who spent 25 hours in a concrete bunker has been described as completely successful.

Participants, ranging in age from 14 months to 75 years, emerged Sunday from the 65 by 55 foot bunker once used as a Nike missile base. They had three meals of a cupful of water and four biscuits, and slept on cots and the floor.

Three peace demonstrators who infiltrated the bunker to distribute anticivil defense literature remained throughout the exercise. "Once they were in, they had to stay," said Edmund J. Maguire, Burlington County coordinator of civil defense.

Panama Group to Washington

PANAMA (AP)—Panama is sending a left-leaning envoy to Washington to seek to break the U.S.-Panamanian deadlock over the Canal Zone dispute.

Miguel J. Moreno Jr., who took a hard line toward the United States when he was foreign minister in 1959, was briefed Sunday by President Roberto Chiari. He probably will leave Wednesday.

Informed sources said Moreno, appointed last week to replace Augusto Guillermo Arango as Panama's representative to the Organization of American States, will try to salvage peace efforts that virtually collapsed here between Chiari and President Johnson's special envoy, Edwin M. Martin.

Chiari, who severed diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10, has demanded a U.S. pledge to renegotiate the 1903 Canal Zone treaty as his price for resuming relations. President Johnson has agreed to discuss—but not negotiate—the treaty, which gives the United States perpetual control of the Canal Zone.

JFK Saw No Basic Change in 3 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is three years today since President John F. Kennedy took office. It is almost two months since he died. Nothing basic has changed in the three years or two months. But there have been changes.

Kennedy had no illusions about the future. In his inaugural talk on that cold bright, windy Jan. 20, 1961 he said the problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime."

Few were solved in his. Yet, he gave the country a sense of life, of youth, of bustle, which it needed. And he gave it a sense of hope, vague as it might have been. If he had lived, the record might have been shining.

Relations with an old foe, the Soviet Union are better; with an old friend, France, worse. The economy is in far better shape. But racial tensions increased until possible explosions lie below the surface of American life.

Militarily, Americans feel far more able to cope with an enemy. But the Atlantic alliance is no stronger. And any hope Kennedy had of a miracle in relations with Latin America was not realized.

The four biggest domestic programs of Kennedy's presidency — federal aid to education, medical care for the aged, a tax cut, and a strong civil rights bill — were all unfinished business when he died.

He might have made progress on some of them this year, or later if he had been re-elected, which he almost certainly would have been had he lived.

Right there, in the American attitude toward him, came the most obvious change in all his presidency. In the 1960 election he had barely squeezed into the White House.

But at the time of his death Kennedy was so enormously popular at home and abroad, as the universal grief at his death showed, there could have been little doubt about his success if he ran again.

In the long run the most significant change may have been in the attitude of the Soviet Union. Kennedy must get great credit for that, but not all. Two other factors were Red China and the depressed Russian economy.

The Russians are still an antagonist. But in the strange chemistry of history they may have undergone a shift in thinking which is not yet fully apparent but may turn out to be profound.

When Kennedy took office Premier Khrushchev was still seething at President Dwight D. Eisenhower, although this may have been an act he felt he had to put on, because of the American plane shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960.

Khrushchev must have mistaken Kennedy for a boy on a man's errand. He pushed his luck. His luck ran out. He threw up the Berlin wall. Kennedy instantly enlarged the American forces.

Khrushchev broke a voluntary nuclear test ban and resumed testing. Kennedy did the same. Khrushchev then tried his biggest push, putting missiles in Cuba. Kennedy forced him to back down. Khrushchev changed.

He signed a nuclear test-ban treaty. His attitude changed. He became more friendly. It was Kennedy who made this possible by refraining from belligerency. This was one of his great achievements.

But other forces were working to take some of the belligerency out of Khrushchev's attitude toward the West. His economy was in trouble, he needed wheat, and Soviet-Red Chinese relations crashed. In Kennedy's short presidency the Soviet Union definitely lost dominion over the Communist world.

French President Charles de Gaulle became increasingly troublesome and obstinate but no doubt he would have been that way with any president, as he just showed. With President Johnson in the White House, De Gaulle is now going to recognize Red China, which this country had hoped he wouldn't.

Kennedy clearly adopted Eisenhower's placid and very often ineffectual technique of trying to avoid disputes at home, particularly with Congress. As a result, Kennedy fought far less fiercely for his programs than he might have. As a result, Congress treated him pretty coolly.

Some of last year's racial explosions might have been avoided if Kennedy had done more fighting with Congress, specifically if he had proposed and insisted upon a strong civil rights program.

Instead, it was the explosions themselves that forced him into offering such a program. Now it's Johnson's baby. It remains to be seen how hard he'll fight for it.

Mother of Wally Moon Killed

BAY, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. H. A. Moon, 55, mother of Los Angeles Dodger baseball player Wally Moon, was killed today when her car was struck by a southbound Frisco passenger train at a crossing one mile north of Bay in southeastern Craighead County.

The engineer, Leslie Wooleidge of Thayer, Mo., said he saw the car on the west side of the tracks when the train was 50 yards away, traveling at 50 to 55 miles per hour. He said the car started suddenly and he did not have time to stop.

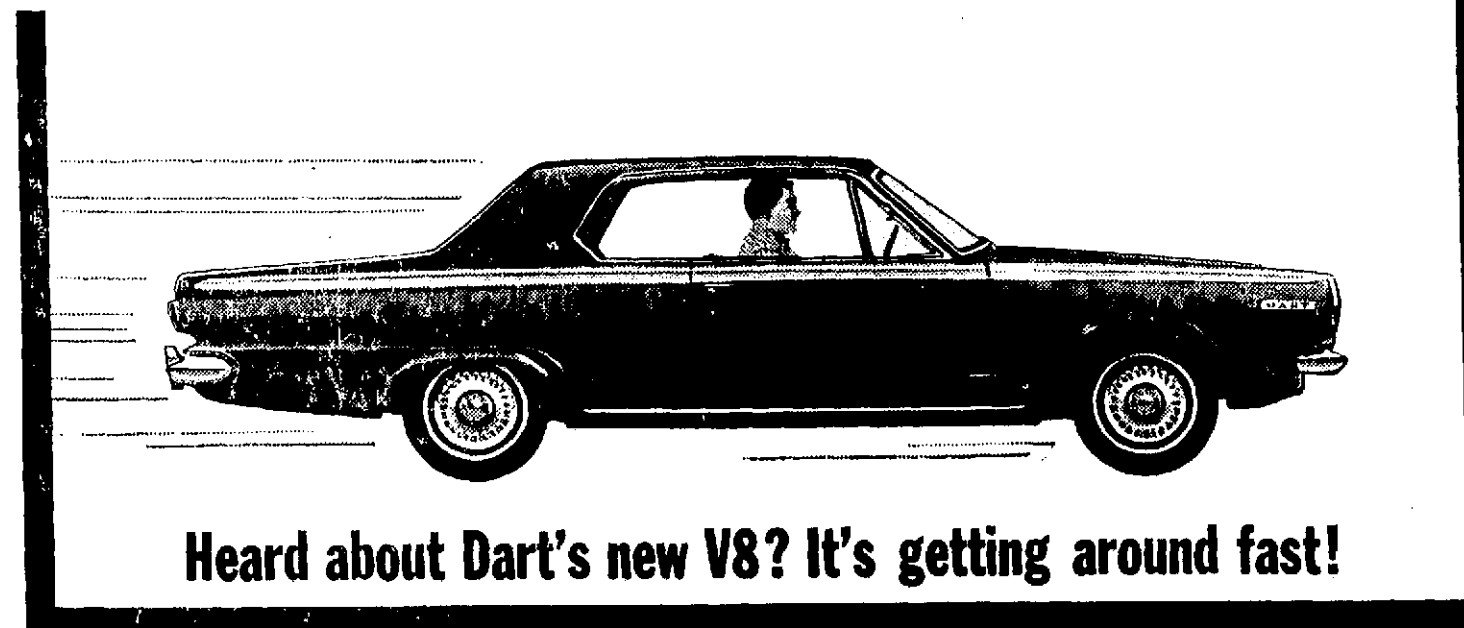

The train carried the car 171 feet down the tracks and knocked it into a ditch.

Mrs. Moon lived at Bay. Other survivors include her husband, another son, Wayne Moon of Bay and a daughter, Mrs. James Ray Forrester of Trumann, Ark.
